EUSPA/PR/22/11 Prague, 8 December 2022

The EU Agency for the Space Programme holds its annual Open Days from 9 – 10 December at EUSPA headquarters in Prague, Czech Republic.

Prague, Czech Republic – 8 December 2022 – After two years of virtual and outdoor events, the EU Agency for the Space Programme (EUSPA) is excited to once again open its doors to the public. With the theme ‘See, Navigate, Communicate’, this year’s edition shines the spotlight on how Galileo, EGNOS, Copernicus, GOVSATCOM and Space Situational Awareness and soon IRIS² bring added value to our everyday lives.

“Put these programmes together as one EU Space Programme and you unleash an array of synergies and possibilities, all of which have a powerful impact on society and the planet,” says EUSPA Executive Director Rodrigo da Costa.

The two-day event features digital exhibits and an immersive, walk-through experience that introduce EUSPA and give a glimpse of the EU Space Programme in action with a special focus on how it addresses climate change. The Open Days also provide fun learning opportunities, exciting seminars, and the occasion to talk with EUSPA experts on career and space entrepreneurship opportunities.

The Open Days of EUSPA headquarters are also an opportunity to recall the impact on the Czech economy. Over the last 10 years, studies show that the Czech GDP benefitted from around €140M coming from our activities representing around 4000 jobs.

EUSPA Open Days 2022 officially start tomorrow Thursday 9 December and will end on Saturday 10 December. Join us from 9:00 to 18:00 at EUSPA Headquarters, located at Janovského 438/2, 170 00 Praha 7-Holešovice.
