Question: The calculation for the first step of the award criteria uses 35 weeks as part of the exclusion criteria. Should this number be taken as the number of weeks each advisor is expected to work; or, if not, can the GSA give an estimate for the average number of weeks an Advisor will be expected to work in any single year?

Answer: The figures foremost serve the need for calculation and comparison of prices on an equal basis for all tenders. They are given as an estimation what could be expected under a specific contract if awarded for a period of an entire year. However, attention should be drawn to the fact that none of these estimates as provided in the tender documents have a binding effect on the GSA.
